What experience do you have in working with stone and what do you hope to gain from this workshop?

WORKSHOP/TOUR REGISTRATION FEES

DRY STONE WALLING WORKSHOP REGISTRATION FEE(s)

European Residents: 200 Euros

US and Canadian Residents: US$200

(200 Euros is actually 270 US$, the reduction has been made in consideration for the higher travel cost for those traveling from North America.)

NOTE: An effort will be made to make economically priced housing available. The village government of Deia will be providing a mid-morning snack and a robust lunch on the days we will be working building walls in what will be a new park, overlooking the sea. And we hope to arrange some after-work refreshment. At the Workshop and Symposium last year, a restaurant/café popular with local working people that only serves meals at midday, opened in the evening for us then—and will do so again—offering communal three-course meals with wine for about $15.

It is recommended that attendees plan to arrive in Mallorca on Saturday the 26th or on Sunday the 27th at the latest so as to have time to register and familiarize themselves with the surroundings. There is an International airport in Palma de Mallorca. Travel and accommodation information and maps will be sent by email immediately upon request.

Registration will take place at the Café Sa Fonda (see map) between 17:00 and 19:00 on Sunday, June 27. Ask for Miguel Ramis if it is not apparent to you where registration is taking place. Miguel's cell phone number is (34) 607-818146.

Payment is best made in cash at that time—but please fill out and send this registration form (a good way is to scan and email it to tomas@stonefoundation.org). This will give us an idea of prospective participation and we can send travel and lodging information to you.
